As Fiona's line manager for the duration of her employment at the University of Brighton I can confidently endorse Fiona's significant technical knowledge. Fiona is our go-to person in the team for questions on HTML5 and CSS, particularly in relation to accessibility and mobile responsiveness. Her work with R has produced visualisations enabling the team to move forward with projects such as reviews of assessment processes. Fiona has created and developed a series of initiatives over her 8 years at Brighton, using an appropriate mix of technologies to support the pedagogy.
